We Empower Others To Make A Difference

Our Mission & Values

We want to end 'tick box' first aid - so our courses are different.

Instead of the traditional 'death by PowerPoint' experience, we believe training should be engaging, immersive and hands on to actually equip learners with the knowledge, skills and confidence required to alleviate suffering and save lives.

About Us

We are a first aid and ATACC trauma education company run by experienced emergency service experts.

Our teaching approach is based around 'describe, demonstrate, do...then do again under stress'. By gradually ramping up the pressure in a safe learning environment, we increase candidate knowledge retention, confidence and competence to effectively deal with life threatening situations 'for real'.

Why choose us?

The Code Red Trainers are Steph and James.

Steph is a HCPC registered paramedic who graduated with a BSc (Hons) Paramedic Practitioner First Class in 2014 and has worked in a Hazardous Area Response Team since 2016. James worked for twenty years in the Fire and Rescue Service as an operational firefighter, trainer and manager and was also a trauma lead and road traffic collision (RTC) instructor with the United Kingdom Rescue Organisation (UKRO).

CPD Workshops

Along with delivering accredited QNUK courses, we also offer a range of bespoke online and in-person continued professional development (CPD) workshops.

Consistent 5 star reviews

"Great course - very informative and practical. Has definitely made me confident to deal with a real life situation."
